Communication skills

My frequent participation in workshops, group discussions, student scientific conferences and internships done in Georgian Parliament and National Electoral Commission of Georgia created and developed excellent cooperative and problem-solving skills.

The anti-discriminatory attitudes and excellent communication skills towards multi-ethnic society gained through the volunteer jobs done in Turkey and Czech Republic. In general, I grew up in multi-ethnic environment in Georgia, and I have got these skills adopted as natural.

Very good intercultural skills adopted while being and living as the exchange student in the UK and Czech Republic. Developed Volunteering and activist attitudes gained through my active participation in student movements and in NGOs' projects on Human Rights.

Organisational / managerial skills

Leadership skills gained through leading the student conferences and planning projects on diverse topics. I always pay attention to cooperative thoughts and opinions, then I normally assess and correspond them to the interest and the aims of the whole group and make e.i. "down-up" decision; I worked as a volunteer instructor for human and national minority rights in the regions where I planned seminars and conferences personally dealing with crowds of students and I gradually adopted good managerial skills. Besides, I gained very solid organizational aptitudes and presentation-making abilities as with working for various NGOs. .
